THE CITY.

THE SUBSCRIPTION LIST OF THE DAILY NEWS IS LARGER THAN THAT OF ANY OTHER PAPER IN THE STATE, AND MORE THAN DOUBLE THAT OF ANY OTHER PAPER IN RALEIGH. ADVERTISERS WILL MAKE A NOTE OF THIS.

Probabilities for today. Falling barometer, warmer, S. E. to S. W. winds, increasing to fresh and brisk, and increasing cloudiness followed by rain rains.

Oak City Briefs.

Picknics are all the go now.

Mayors court yesterday was dull.

Everything quiet at the Capitol yesterday.

Yesterday was the prettiest day that we have had this spring.

Lieut. Pescud leaves this morning on another insurance trip.

Rev. J. J. Wrenn, the great Sunday school advocate, is in the city.

An old lady 76 years old walked to the cemetery and back on memorial day.

A posse of U. S. soldiers were downtown yesterday looking for a deserter from the camp.

We are glad to see that the health of our efficient State Auditor Mr. John Reiley is improving.

We are glad to see that our street committee has gone to work. They are inspecting the streets and ordering repairs to be done.

Hands all around, balance all. We understand two hundred invitations to the leap year ball were sent out yesterday by the young ladies.

We are sorry to learn that Capt. J. B. Neathery, Private Secretary to the Governor is sick. Hope he will be able to report well in a few days.

Swain street Baptist Sunday School picked up yesterday at Penny's Pond. The city cornet band was along and the young folks had a delightful time.

We are glad to see on our streets Capt. J. M. Tate of Lynchburg, formerly of this city. He is looking well and reports Lynchburg in a flourishing condition.

Trade on Cotton Exchange was quite dull yesterday evening and the "boys" amused themselves by seeing who could leap the farthest. When last heard from they were still jumping.

The officers, teachers, scholars and all persons interested in the Edenton street M. E. Church will meet at the church this evening at 8 o'clock. The picnic question will be thoroughly ventilated.

If you wish to see a pretty sight go to Lovejoy's Grove and take a look at the little white flags that were placed on the graves of the Confederate dead memorial day. We think the idea a beautiful one.

A telegram was received from the Governor yesterday. He arrived at the Continental Hotel on the 9th inst., was present at the opening exercises of the Centennial and reports it was a grand and impressive affair.

Raleigh Council No. 227 Friends of Temperance will meet this evening at the usual hour over Mr. Branson's Book Store. Every member is requested to attend as business of importance to the council is to be transacted.

Our grocery men should remember that there is a city law which prohibits their buying produce to sell again before the hour of 9 o'clock. We think this a good law for the protection of our citizens, and glad to see that it is being enforced.

A number of colored men met at Magnin's office Wednesday night and decided to call a mass meeting of colored people in the city for the purpose of getting every colored male organization to join in a procession to march to the Federal Cemetery on the 30th instant.

The Odd Fellows visited the Deaf Dumb and Blind Institute yesterday afternoon. They found everything as neat as a pin, and while there, Mr. John Nichols, the worthy Superintendent, got up an impromptu concert of recitations, reading, music, &c. All expressed themselves highly pleased.

Messrs. Beckstein and Hyatt, of Berlin, Prussia, are at the Yabaro. These gentlemen come to America to visit the great Centennial, and concluded to run down and see Raleigh first. Mr. Beckstein is a brother to Prof. Agthe, of the Baptist College in this city. We wish the foreign gentlemen a pleasant time while in the city.

May! gentle pleasant May is fully upon us, not only in name but also in the prettiest weather. Deep blue skies, trees in full summer dress of greenest green, cool, balmy breezes wafting the delicate perfume of the violet and honeysuckles, and last, but far from least, many, many pairs of pretty misses and ladies fair in their new Spring gowns as can be found anywhere. Who, who would n't live in Raleigh? In May!

Mr. Nat. L. Brown will sell strawberries every day at his store in Holleman Building. As the season is short for this luxury, the public will take advantage of this opportunity by calling early on Mr. Brown.

The Ladies and the Memorial.

We devoted a large portion of our space yesterday to the part the gentle men took in the services, so to-day we propose to say something about what the ladies did. Mrs. R. G. Lewis, the President of the Ladies Memorial Association, has devoted herself with commendable zeal and love to the Confederate dead, and to her credit to any one else are well debited for the beautifully arranged stand and fine display of flowers.

The ladies in charge of the decoration of the rostrum, graves etc., displayed unusual good taste. The designs were exceedingly appropriate, and we were particularly struck with a new feature in the decoration of the graves, a neat little white flag and staff with beautiful and fragrant little bouquets of rose buds and evergreens, one of which was stuck in each grave and really presented a beautiful appearance, which excited general admiration and complimentary expressions of approval and pleasure from strangers as well as our own citizens, and the effect produced on the minds of all was the same. The people of Peace Institute, St. Mary's the Baptist and other schools approaching the sacred grounds, each of them with one of the little flags in hand, awakened the most tender emotions. We must not fail to mention the beautiful floral offering of Dr. Eugene Grissom, a most artistically arranged bouquet of flowers in the shape of a cross in a pure white shield, arranged at the request of Dr. Grissom by Capt. C. B. Denson, of Pittsboro, and presented by the Doctor to the President of the Association. Mr. A. P. C. Bryan, the polite Express agent, brought the bouquet from Pittsboro free of charge. The most beautiful roses, buds and flowers used in the various designs and arranged by Miss Sue Pescud, a member of the committee with her usual exquisite taste, came from Miss Annie Smallwood of Newbern. They were certainly the most charming collection we ever saw. Mr. Lewis has been most kindly aided and assisted by Miss Sue Pescud, Mrs. Foster, Miss Kate Devereux, Miss Sophia Partridge and other ladies. They are doing all in their power to improve the grounds of the Confederate Cemetery, and are trying to raise funds to procure marble head stones for the graves. We wish them every success.

The Hook and Ladder Company.

We publish, as an act of simple justice to a most useful and gallant corps, their card which expresses naturally their sense of the neglect they have suffered at the hands of the Press. We (the editor) are not the reporter, and therefore not responsible for such omissions. Yet we confess that the more imposing apparatus and more conspicuous action of the fire companies have thrown into the back ground the more modest, but quite as useful and meritorious Hook and Ladder company. The whole fire department is a component of different branches. It is incomplete unless all its parts are perfect. The Hook and Ladder men are perhaps often called upon to do deeds of daring and peril than are the members of their engine companies. It is their charge to make the assault and to open the breach into which the gallant firemen pour their conquering stream. To speak of one without mention of the other is to make invidious omission. We hope that hereafter the press of the city will guard against neglects which savor of ingratitude and want of due appreciation.

Mr. Editor:—It was said during the war that the most mortifying thing that a soldier had to encounter was to be wounded in battle and afterwards to find his name given wrong in the bulletins and newspapers. The Hook and Ladder Company, composed of as good and true men as this city affords and of men who have time and again shown their worth as public-spirited citizens, whenever the property of our people has been in jeopardy, possess a similar feeling to the soldier, after reading the bulletins and newspapers of the civic ceremonies which grace your columns yesterday.

Our command is naturally jealous of public esteem. It is all the pay we receive for the sacrifice of time and labor and the jeopardy of our lives; and when the popular newspaper—the paymaster of the public for such as gives us a blank check and ignores or fails to notice us on parade, we naturally feel slighted and are bound to assume that we are not appreciated.

The military companies were described in fitting martial terms; the Rescue Company, with its helmeted and kingly captain, was praised with an encore; even the long procession of carriages and wagons, filled with the populace, was noticed in pathetic and fitting language; but poor we, the Raleigh Hook and Ladder Company, notwithstanding our patriotic desire to add our mite of appreciation to the occasion, was ignored and unnoticed. It is too bad. But let fires come, let conflagration rage, let the property of our fellow citizens be jeopardized and noticed or unnoticed, we will unselfishly continue to do our duty.

ONE OF THE H. & L.

Pic-Nic at Millbrook on the Neuse.

A select party of young ladies and gentlemen left the city yesterday morning, in wagons, buggies, and every kind of vehicle that could be started. They carried the Italian band along, and in music, dancing, fishing and chatting the day sped rapidly by. They returned to the city about dark, everybody perfectly delighted.

A View of Raleigh.

Mr. George H. Jones, of this city, has, as was announced in our columns, succeeded in securing the right of location of the Raleigh News. We extend to Mr. Jones the right hand of fellowship and wish him every success in his new venture. He is a man of energy and initiative, and his efforts for the benefit of the city are well known. He is a man of energy and initiative, and his efforts for the benefit of the city are well known.

Help Them On With the Noble Work.

We know the times are hard, and they have been so since our earliest recollection; but really and truly are only hard with the improvident, who spend more than their income and base promises to pay upon what they hope to receive but never realize. While this is so—and a sad reality—there are a large number of thrifty and provident persons of both sexes in our city and State who should feel a peculiar pride and pleasure in assisting the Ladies Memorial Association in keeping the grounds in order and in perfecting the original design as regards ornamenting them with summer-houses, rustic seats and a neat marble head-stone to each grave. Will not many of the latter class, in Raleigh and elsewhere, send a free-will offering without waiting for a special appeal? Who will be the first ten to send the Treasurer, W. E. Anderson, $100 each, or even a smaller amount?

Personal.

General J. G. Martin, of Asheville, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. George A. Allen, the great agricultural man of the State, is spending a few days in the city.

Messrs. P. B. Kennedy and S. R. Harrison, of Salisbury, called at our sanctum yesterday. We are sorry that we were out at the time.

Rev. H. H. Gibbons and Rev. J. J. Wrenn also called.

We are always glad to see our friends, and note their calls with pleasure.

Mr. T. K. Bruner of the Salisbury Watchman called to see us yesterday.

Tom is one of those free open generous hearted fellows that it makes one glad to meet. We look upon him as the finest looking newspaper man in the State, Caldwell not excepted, and sports a moustache than would set off the face of a prince. We wish him a pleasant time during his stay in our city.

The Grey and the Blue.

During memorial services Wednesday the Federal officers stationed here, together with their wives contributed a wagon load of flowers on the graves of the Confederate dead. We saw Mrs. General Barstow with a basketful of flowers made into beautiful wreaths and crosses which, with the assistance of the General, she placed upon the graves of the South Carolina soldiers buried in the cemetery. Those who were the grey highly commended the noble and generous act of Mrs. Barstow and others in decorating the graves of our soldiers.

All of our citizens were glad to see it, and it gives us especial pleasure to mention this incident showing the overthrowing of all sectional prejudices, and we hope the day will soon dawn when the gallant deeds of both sides of the late war will become the common heritage of our glorious country.

Grand Lodge I. O. O. F.

This body adjourned yesterday at so late an hour we have not time in this issue to give more than the election of grand officers. They are as follows: M. W. Grand Master, R. J. Jones, of Wilmington; Deputy Grand Master, A. J. Burton, of Weldon; Grand Warden, P. C. Caplan, of Statesville; Grand Secretary, J. J. Litchford, of Raleigh; Grand Treasurer, Theo. F. Klutz, of Salisbury; Grand Representative to the Grand Lodge of the United States, Seaton Gales, of Raleigh. The list of appointed officers will be announced to-day.

The Grand Lodge accepted an invitation to visit, in a body, the Institution for the Deaf, Dumb, and the Blind. The Grand Lodge also donated $100 annually to the Oxford Orphan Asylum.

Mr. Graves.

We learn that Mr. R. H. Graves, whose death was mentioned yesterday, died at 4 p. m. Wednesday from suffusion of blood on the brain. His death occurred unexpectedly, as, though somewhat unwell for some time, he had the morning of his death expressed himself as better than for some time previous. Dr. E. B. Haywood found Mr. Graves dying on his arrival at 2 o'clock. Mr. Graves was buried yesterday afternoon.

A Brilliant Wedding.

Christ Church was the scene on the morning of the 10th of one of those fashionable weddings for which it has become so famous.

The parties on this occasion were Mr. Eliza G. Brown, of Richmond, and Miss Lee Jeffreys, of this city, the latter looking lovely in a light grey plaid silk and a white Leghorn hat tastefully trimmed. Their attendants were Mr. J. D. Whitaker and Miss Meta Devereaux, Mr. M. T. Leach and Miss Maggie Fowle. The two bridesmaids appearing to charming advantage in handsome walking suits. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal couple started on an extended Northern tour, taking with them the best wishes of a large and attached circle of friends.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Marshall.

Pretty and Ingenious.

Mr. J. C. S. Lumden showed us yesterday a fruit and flower basket made by himself that is well worth a visit to his store to see. He has acted upon the Divine command, "gather up the fragments that nothing may be lost," and out of waste bits of tin, has interwoven as pretty and artistic piece of flagstone work as one would expect to find in the more costly material of silver, beautiful in workmanship and tasteful in design. It may be used either as a fruit or a flower basket.

New Advertisements.

The Tuckers are here with another stock of spring goods. We can't say whether this is the third or the fourth of the season, for his goods are all so pretty and so cheap that he can hardly keep them on hand—but these last are prettier than all.

Go and buy, and if there is any "small change" coming to you, you will get it in bright silver shiners.

Stronach's new ad. gives one an appetite. Did you ever see so many "good things" advertised?

A Receivership Applied for for the Sentinel.

The Sentinel of yesterday mentions in the editor's letter from Hillsboro, that at the present time of Orange court motions were made to appoint receivers for the Sentinel on the part of R. Y. McAden, assignee of Geo. W. Swenson, Evans Turner, administrator of Josiah Turner Sr., and the executor of W. A. Graham and D. M. Barringer. The judge reserved his opinion.

A Good Idea.

Among the many features of the Centennial is one not heretofore mentioned we believe, a building for the bank offices in the United States to erect which each bank or banker has, we learn, been asked to contribute from fifteen to twenty-five dollars.

Mayor's Court.

The following cases were disposed of by Mayor Manly yesterday: William Woolcott, buying produce to sell again during market hours; $5 and costs.

Talitha Noble and Mag Richardson, two nymphs de pace, for pulling wool; each $5 and costs. After the trial Mag immediately run her hands in her stocking and pulled out the money.

One More Feather in Their Caps.

The cadets of Capt. C. H. Scott's Military School deserve special notice for their efficiency in drill and for their accuracy in firing salutes at the Cemetery Wednesday. They were the cause of special praise by all who saw them, and reflected great credit upon Capt. Scott, the principal of the school, who has cause to be proud of his boys, the pets of the city. Long may the school be in a prosperous condition.

Removal.

Mr. J. S. Booker, who for the past two years has been keeping a boarding house on Wilmington street, was engaged yesterday in moving to Mrs. Miller's old residence, on Newbern avenue having rented the same. Those who desire to obtain good board, and elegant rooms, should not fail to avail themselves of the opportunity. It is a delightful place.

An Omission.

In our report of the Memorial ceremonies on yesterday, we omitted to mention that the religious services of the occasion were conducted by Rev. Dr. M. M. Marshall, of Christ Church of this city, who discharged the duty in a most impressive and eloquent manner.

Aid for the University.

The ladies of Hillsboro repeated their dramatic entertainment on Tuesday night. The net receipts of the two exhibitions were somewhat over two hundred dollars. An encouraging example for the ladies of other towns in the State.

Blake's Ice.

The public will be glad to learn that Blake will furnish the city again with ice for the season. He has arranged his headquarters in Leopold's cellar and is prepared to serve Maine ice at three cents per pound in quantities under ten pounds and 25 cents for quantities over ten pounds. Special contracts made upon application.
